MUNICIPAL CANDIDATES ARE NOW INVITED TO START WORK

Is your hat in the ring?

In April Tropico will hold a municipal election at which time she will elect three Trustees, City Clerk and City Treasurer,and if you are qualified you can enter the race and save the city from going to the "bow wows" or wherever it is going in the minds of some of us. To become a candidate and have your name placed on the ticket you must follow the rules as set forth.

You can obtain your nomination papers from the city clerk at any time. You must apply in persan.

It will be necessary for you to have your nomination papers circulated by a friend and you must inveigle at least nine qualified voters to swear that they will vote for you at election time and your friend must not commence to circulate this paper before February 20.

After you have coersed these nine qualified voters into signing the papers said papers must be filed with the city clerk and not later than March 15.

After March 16, the city clerk must give notice of the date of such election, officers to be voted on, board of election, location of polling places, etc.

If you desire to serve on the election board you must file an application with the city clerk not later than March 1. Blanks for doing so will be furnished by city clerk.

Get your hat in the ring but don't crowd.

The following "Don'ts" have been prepared for the use of candidates:

In making speeches on the streets "Don't" block traffic. "Don't" malign the other candidates, they'll get there's after they get elected. "Don't" make any rash promises, it can't be did.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH WHEN CAR HITS TRUCK

Saved from the jaws of death, would be a fitting title to a story of the High School debating club when they went to Huntington Park last Saturday evening to participate in the Southwestern Debating League.

The club members under the chaperonage of Mrs. Jno. Seaman, left Tropico in a truck and while attempting to cross the street near the Plaza the truck and a street car came together, the truck going out of commissionand the party aside from a shaking up and being badly frightened escaped what might have resulted in a very serious accident.

The party went on to Huntington Park via the Trolly in spite of their delay.

WATER RATES IN DANGER OF BEING RAISED BY RY. COMMISSION

The matter establishing a rate for water users in Tropico was heard before Examiner Westoner at the City Hall last Monday morning and from all appearances the Railway Commission will give the Water Company the priviledge to charge a higher rate than is in force now.

The engineer for the Commission submitted a detailed report which sets forth the fact that the plant is worth considerable more then has been asked by Mr. Brand.

Mr. Brand offered the plant including water rights, pipe lines and real estate for $50,000. The engineer for the Commission puts the value at $49,909 exclusive of the water rights, water stock and real estate. This wouldbring the estimated value up to something like $90,000 which if taken into consideration by the Commission at its final decision would raise our rates to $1.50 at least.

Should such a decision be reached by the Commission it is likely that a bond issue to purchase a municipal system would be enevitable.

From our own engineer's report there are two ways in which Tropico can acquire a self supporting water system—namely, by purchasing the system as it now stands and adding the necessary extensions or putting in a new system and obtaining the water from wells.

The Board of Trustees have turned the matter over to the Chamber of Commerce and at the regular meeting held on Thursday evening the problem will be put up for discussion. If everything points to a self-supporting system without a doubt the chamber will petition the Trustees to call an election for the purpose of voting bonds sufficient to acquire the same.

THE BIGGEST LITTLE BROADWAY STAR

Viola Dana, who appears at The Bijou Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 18 and 19 "Her Happiness," an Edison Feature, is the Biggest Little Broadway Star. She is known as "The Sweetest Girl on the Screen."

No Star now on the screen is having the meteoric rise of this lady—and its all through sheer merit, not a publicity-made reputation.

The winning personality of this little Miss is such that her screen appearance is really vibrant with all appeal of a personal appearance. In all of her plays Miss Dana achieves a personal triumph through her own native charm and sweetness which enhance, sa does a setting, the brilliant impersonations she lives in her characters. She is easily one of the most winsome little ladies—if not the most—onthe screer, there is no longer question of how she stands—an artist of compelling dep'h of power.

The Motion Pisture Magazine recently said: "Viola Dana is delightful. She had the happy faculty of expressing any emotion that her parts calls for, with remarkable realism. Her characterization is complete in understanding and charm ."

The result of the big player popularity contest held by the "Boston-American" which was national in scope and interest, proved beyond a doubt what a firm hold Viola Dana has as a favorite upon the American people. In this contest which just closed, this little Star was voted one of the country's greatest favorites.

Don't forget to see her at the Bijou Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 18 and 19.

TROPICO CITY CLERK DECLINES CANDIDACY FOR RE-ELECTION

To my friends and enemies who have expressed solicitude respecting my acceptance of a nomination for re-election to the office of City Clerk I wish to say that they may unhesitatingly dismiss the same. I do not seek the nomination and will not accept it if tendered me. Reasons later. Respectfully,

IOWA AND ILLINOIS TO PICNIC DURING THE COMING WEEKS

Once more all who have ever lived in Iowa are cordially invited to the great annual picnic reunion in Eastlake Park, Los Angeles, all day, Tuesday, Feb. 22, 1916. (If rainy that date or just before, it will be held Saturday, the 26th, or if still too wet, then Saturday, the 4th of March.) All the usual attractions will be offered: County registers all day, picnic dinner at noon, program at 2 o'clock, college reunions at 3, a jolly happy social time all day long with the old Hawkeye friends.

Make your plans to attend as there will be many visitors from the old home state. Be sure to register in each county you have ever lived. Take a generous sized lunch basket. Pass the word along to all the Iowans you meet. See that your newspaper gives it fine notices. When in Los Angeles call at our office, "The Home of Iowans," in the California Savings Bank, Spring and Fourth, and see that your name is in the register. See who is here from the old home county. Come to us for any information. 10459, Main 5635. The Iowa Association of Southern California, C.H. Parsons, Secretary.

Hey, there, you Suckers! You will surely miss a good time if you fail to come to the midwinter picnic held by the Illinois State Society at Long Beach, Feb. 12, 1916. Bring your pumpkin pies and chicken, enough for all, and make this a grand reunion of all the "Suckers," young and old, visitors and hyphenated California-Illinoisans. There will be a brief program, but rich in music and speeches. Each county will have headquarters and registration cards. Coffee will be furnished free to all who buy official badges. Any other information will be furnished by Dr. G. H. Galbraith, at Long Beach.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN TROPICO TAKING ON NEW ACTIVITIES

The first few days of February show from the building inspectors report that the feeling of depression that has seemed to exist in Tropico for several months has taken a turn for the better and from all indications real estate and business conditions will be on the rise from now on.

James M. Murican is erecting a store room and 5-room flat building, 40x30 feet, at Oak Drive and North San Fernando Blvd.

J. H. Flower is erecting a two-story building 50x60 feet, at 113 South San Fernando Blvd. Mr. Flower has recently erected a store building in Burbank and was among the first to take a chance on Brand Blvd. in Glendale. His judgment has proven successful in each case and his farsightedness is assurance of a possible future in Tropico. Mr. Flower owns other business property in Tropico which will receive the same attention when opportunity present.

PAST WEEK A BUSY ONE IN THE WHIRL OF TROPICO SOCIETY

On Saturday evening of last week a large party of young people gathered at the home of Miss Marjorie Wallace on Tropico Ave., in response to invitations for a birthday and valentine party combined. It was a most unique affair in every detail. Red and gold hearts and cupids and red carnations were used for the decorations and in great profusion. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served and many appropriate toasts were given to the hostess. The hours passed all too quickly for the young people, and as the hands of the clock pointed to midnight songs were sung and good-night said with wishes of many returns of the day.

Invitations were sent to the following: Misses Ethel Baker, Beatrice Gile, Mable Gile, Jessie Fishel, Ethel Baird, Dora Hewitt, May Flanders, Enid Deeds, Ludie Spear, Laura Fillinger, Grace Lewis, Blanche Cramer; Messrs. Charles Klamm, Louis Baker, Will Hewitt, Billie Marple, Ray Goodsell, Wayne Frank, Al Flanders, Ernest Fillinger, Pleas Spear, Levert Goddard.

From out of town: Miss Jessie Frisbey, Homer Smith, Los Angeles; Jlian Gobar, Victorville; Dave Gobar, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gibbs, Jr., Nealie Strauss, Alice Benedict, Corona; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Gibbs, grandparents of Miss Wallace, were also present.

Miss Gladys Hamilton, assisted by Miss Mae Cornwell, entertained 24 of their young scholars of the Acacia Avenue school, last Thursday afternoon. The occasion was in commemoration of the promotion of the Third and Fourth grades and will be long remembered.

The afternoon was passed in games with a closing surprise in the shape of a hugs Jack Horner pie. The children were instructed to "thrust in a thumb and pull out a plum," which proved to be a heart-shaped bon-bon box filled with dainties.

Pupils of the Fourth grade who moved to the Cerritos school were: Mary Alice Ferry, Mildred Fishel, Norma Heaton, Gladys Goodrich, Kenneth Wellen, Paul Hall, Bridwell Martin, George Melrose, Ernest Marchello, Danny Berman and Glenn Roberts.

Those of the Third grade were: Florence Melrose, Lois Oliver, Dorothy Dutton, Dorothy Watson, Dimice Parker, Lavina Hutt, Catherine Weiler, Thelma Grote, Frederick Turney, Carl Springer, and Stanley Ballentyne.

Mrs. Louis Bittle and Miss Blanche Cramer entertained in honor of their mother, Mrs. Lorene Cramer's birthday, last Thursday evening. The home at 553 Acacia Ave., was beautifully decorated in St. Valentine settings of red hearts, cut flowers and foliage.

Old-fashioned games were enjoyed during the evening and at a late hour a supper was served. Gifts of silver service were presented to Mrs. Cramer in memory of the occasion. Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bittle, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Wasson, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Gilmore, Mrs. W. Gilmore, Mrs. Hamildon, the Misses Gladys Hamildon, Elsie Wilson, Essie Hamildon, Crowell, Hazard, Blanche Cramer, and Gilmore; Messrs. Dan Hamildon, Alvin Slanders, George Huff, Paul Cramer, Wallace Cramer, and Master John Louis Bittle.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES ENTERTAIN MEMBERS AT THEIR HALLS

A large and appreciative number of members of the Tropico Thursday Club enjoyed the excellent program as arranged by Mrs. W. C. Mabry, last Thursday, at the city hall. Miss Theodora Macomber, of Hollywood, district chairman of literature of the Los Angeles district, gave a most interesting and instructive paper on Bible literature, interspersing her talk with vocal numbers, given by noted masters, of the sacred songs of the Hebrews 2000 years before Christ. The musical numbers were given on a Victrola and through each number given there was the most exquisite refrain of sweetness as well as pathos. The selections were so decidedly different from our present day sacred music that the comparison was truly enjoyable and one regretted that more of this music could not have been given during the afternoon.

Another delightful feature of the program was the two beautiful solos rendered by Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, whose sweet, clear soprano charmed all. Mrs. Moore was accompanied by Mrs. Percy Degaston.

During the social hour dainty refreshments were dispensed from prettily decorated tables, arranged in French marigolds, at which Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. J. W. Ashton, Mrs. C. H. Phillips and Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly presided.

Of unusual interest was the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church, which was held in the Philathea room of the church, last Wednesday afternoon. A basket of white hyacinths and ferns were among the pretty floral decorations that brightened the room, where the nineteen ladies assembled and spent a very delightful afternoon. The devotional exercises were conducted by the president, Mrs. G. S. Chapman. Mrs. O. P. Rider gave a most entertaining as well as instructive talk on "China," which rendered the program one of much interest. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Eliza Birney and Mrs. Henry L. Moody, as hostesses, served dainty wafers and refreshing tea.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICES ARE HELD AT G. A. R. HALL

Impressive memorial exercises, in memory of those comrades of N. P. Banks Post, who have answered "Taps" the past year, were held in G. A. R. hall last Sunday, Feb. 6, at 2:30 o'clock. Hon. T. D. Kanhouse, past post commander of N. P. Banks, was one of the speakers. Music was rendered by a quartette. Not only members of N. P. Banks Post Corps and Sons of Veterans were invited to be present, but citizens of Tropico, Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank.

The society, Sons of the Revolution, in the State of California, has started a nation-wide movement to secure the co-operation of the ministers of all denominations, to preach a patriotic, commemorative sermon, featuring Washington and his part in the early history of this country, on the Sunday preceding Washington's birthday, Feb. 20. All the patriotic societies of the country have agreed to assist in securing this.

THE MAGIC PAINT STREAM

By ELL S. WOOD

PART II

At 4:00 on a very wet morning Farmer Silas Perkins arose from his feather bed. Si was always the first citzen of Lakota County to see the light of morning, for he had ten farm hands to awaken and put to work milking his ten times ten cows. He also had the largest farm in the state, the largest number of farm buildings, and was the largest stock-holder, both in size and possessions, of the Natural Co-operative Paint Association.

Stepping from his back door, he noticed that the ground about the house was red. He chanced to look up. The house was anything but red. He looked at the farm buildings. They were wierdly streaked. He said nothing. What he said wouldn't look good in print.

The same morning approximately 9,999 other persons looked out upon a rain-drenched, red-bestreaked countryside, and voiced their sentiments in much the same wordage.

One good farmer, upon entering his erstwhile red barn, found his prize jersey cow resembling a red-striped zebra.

The weazened little station matter, upon emerging from the building to watch the morning flyer go by, saw to his amazement that the gravel about the station was red instead of gray, and that once more the primeval structure had reverted to its ancient dinginess. Then he realized why Goldman and Breese had been in such a hurry to catch the Midnight Express and why they had been so uncommunicative.

Having had very little in the way of duties to perform, about the station, he had always run U. S. Post a close second for the honor of being recognized as the best informed citizen of Southville, and such a fraudulent fake as the Natural Co-operative Paint Association must needs demand his attention. So leaving the sad-looking station, he rushed with all speed to the company's store.

There he found an angry gathering, the greater part of Southville's citizenship, headed by the titanic Perkins, furiously beating upon the door of the Natural Co-operative Paint Association's offices. Others stood gazing mournfully at the dreary remains of the town's once vivid coloring. Some merely looked up and stared. Many talked in low and angry tones, but the greater number had joined the crowd at the door.

The little station-master rushed through the throng and elbowed his way to the front. There he managed to whisper a few words to Farmer Perkins. Then standing upon the doorstep, he shouted:

"Gentlemen, Goldman and Breese left town last night on the Midnight Express. They paid for their tickets out of the largest handful of money I ever saw at one time. We must hold Post to account."

Waiting no longer, the crowd swarmed in a quick-moving mass to Post's house a few blocks down the main street. They also found his door bolted and the blinds drawn, and they also proceeded to beat upon the panels of his big front door, and so insistent became they that the door began to splinter, when suddenly above them a window flew open and a sad-looking old man gazed mournfully down upon a sadder-looking throng. Within the room a much-frightened maiden, suffering from the pangs of disappointed love, clung to his coat tail.

There was only one thing for U. S. Post to do at that time and that was talk. He had to do it, so he began talking. He never knew exactly what he said; all he did know was that his mouth was open and words issuing therefrom.

He reminded his "dear fellow-citizens" how he had furnished them with tomatoes, meat, galluses, nails, and all other necessities of life, edible, dry-goods, and hardware, for the past fifteen years, and how he had never sold them a spoiled can or a cotton coat for a woolen one, nor short-changed them one penny. The crowd could not but assent to this.

He also advised them in despondent tones how he had been invcigled into the disastrous paint scheme by "two lowest scoundrels the city had ever known;" how he had lost his all in the bursting of the crimson bubble; how his trade was thereby ruined; and how he stood before them, a broken man with a broken-hearted daughter, the victim of the same dastardly swindlefest that had ruined their homes. At this touch of pathos there were actually a few damp eyes in the crowd, and Post noticed, to his surprise and pleasure, that the angry populace had lost some of its red-hot pitch, and were conversing with each other in low tones.

Then he played his trump card, one which he had kept up his sleeve for emergency's sake. He swore by the bountiful corn crops of Lakota County that he would repay drop for drop everp can of paint that had been sold them, that he would reinstate himself in popular favor, and that Southville should still be the metropolis of the State of Dakoma.

To accomplish this, he asserted, one must strike at the heart of the evil. In other words laws must be passed which would render impossible the repitition of such a fraud, and to pass such laws someone who was familiar with conditions must be responsible for them. He timidly suggested that he,

"They paid for their tickets out of the largest handful of money I ever saw."

Ulysees Samuel Post, their humble servant, would be the man for the job. Lakota County's representation in the State legislature would soon be vacant and if they, the voters, would elect him to the post, he would pledge himself to carry out the divine will of Southville's citizenship. But they must have time to think it over. So concluding with a final word of fealty he closed the window and received the benediction of Miss Mary Post, the author of this bold scheme, who, in desparation, had formulated it while awaiting the inevitable visit from the highly respected citizens of Southville.

One month passed by. Election day came, and old Post was actually elected to the State legislature. The voters probably did it more to get rid of him than anything else, but no doubt the fact that Southville w.uld have its own representative "up thar in the capitol" had something to do with it.

So U. S. Post and daughter Mary, and all the Post belongings, a negligible quantity, moved one day to a little unassuming flat in the city of Pierson, capital of the State of Dakoma.

Just six months from that day, after having made a close study of legislative conditions, having secured the friendship of politicians, and more important, the position of Chairman of the Committee on Paints, the former country postmaster completed the first chapter of his crusade against paint manufacturers.

The Post Paint Law, as he christened it, was the first and most radical of all concoctions of that nature ever served to a helpless and pitiable legislature.

It audaciously provided that every can of paint made in the State of Dakoma must carry a complete, attested, quantitative chemical analysis, and a strict guarantee against fading, washing off, or cracking.

Furthermore it provided that every paint company must pay a regular tax of 1% of its net income to the State, must deposit a reserve fund as guaranty against fraud, and its officers and directors must be bonded by strong securities, and their personal character and ability approved by the State; and finally that the price of paint was to be regulated by the State. All these provisos were to become operative exclusively through the Chairman of Paints. Thus U. S. Post figured to become master of the paint situation and Chief Judge of the Supreme Court of Paint Manufacturers, and consequently it is little to be wondered that this reformer of the legislature leaned back in his chair, on the eve of his bid for fame, and, after affixing his signature to the foregoing instrument, smiled the deep, broad, prepossessing smile of a monarch.

According to the annual report of the First National and Home Savings banks of Woodland these two institutions did the biggest business of their history last year. The combined assets total $1,800,000 and the combined deposits total $1,300,000.

Eighteen raids made simultaneously by the Los Angeles police in downtown barber shops, saloons, business blocks and cigar stands resulted in the arrest of 65 men who have been charged with maintaining places where betting on races was permitted.

Half a ton of wheat was taken out of Redding last week to be scattered along the track between Pit river and Sims for the relief of thousands of quail and other birds, starving because the recent heavy falls of snow have made their feeding places inaccessible.

The Grass Valley reservoirs are full of water and all danger of a water shortage in the event of fire has passed, but the city officials are still doling it out for an hour or two each day as a precautionary measure until the full daily supply is pouring into the reservoirs.

Men under the employ of the California-Oregon Power company, while working at the company's dam at Copco, uncarthed at the depth of ninety feet, a huge skeleton of what is supposed to be a prehistoric animal. It was found below the bed of the Klamath river in solid rock.

Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell of the Los Angeles land office have canceled the selection of two pieces of desert land for eighty acres each, in the name of W. A. Twogood, on the general charge of fraud. The land is located in the vicinity of Oxnard, Ventura county.

Seven directors for the California Peach Growers, the $1,000,000 co-operating marketing association, were elected by unanimous vote at Fresno. They are William Glass, Chris Jorgensen and J. F. Niswander of Fresno, John C. Rorden of Selma, F. H. Wilson of Dinuba, W. J. Wilson of Kings county and Warren H. Woods of Solano county.

Two estimates have been filed with the Sutter County Board of Supervisors, showing the cost of the proposed bridge across the Feather River at Nicolaus. To build a bridge at a point just above the town would cost the county $152,480; to build a structure where the ferry is now operated the cost would be $170,770.

The stork in 1915 duplicated his record of the previous year in Yolo County, there being 241 babies born. Death fell behind his 1914 mark. In that year 168 persons died in Yolo County; in 1915, 148 died. Cupid made a low record in 1915, compared to his mark of 1914. In the past year there were 118 marriage licenses issued in that county; in 1914, 126.

Remember, Your Grab Bag Days Are Over.

By MOSS.

LOOK before you leap. You've often heard a person say VEXATIOUSLY, "Well, I don't know how the Browns manage to get things better and cheaper than I do all the time."

VEXATION never gets any one anywhere.

What the Browns do is to LOOK BEFORE THEY LEAP. They take no chances with UNKNOWN QUALITY and QUANTITY and HIGH PRICES.

There is POSITIVELY NO NEED to PLAY GRAB BAG with the serious business of buying.

ADVERTISING ELIMINATES RISK. Merchants know that giving the public a SQUARE DEAL through ADVERTISING is their BEST ASSET. No business man could ENDURE in this community who tried CONTINUOUSLY to FOOL the people through printer's ink.

Take NO CHANCES with the UNTRIED. Our advertising columns form a SPLENDID DIRECTORY of HONESTY.

Lucky Thirteen.

The number 13, so universally decreed as unlucky, is considered a lucky number by the pupils of the French military school of Saint Cyr. At the final examination the man who ranks as the thirteenth is believed to have a brilliant career before him. Marshal MacMahon as well as Bourbaki were graduated thirteenth in their classes. General Laveaucoupet, who distinguished himself in the defense of Metz during the Franco-German war, also ranked thirteenth.

Model 83 B

With unerring judgment of value—
With a rush that swallowed up a record production in jig time—
The public took more than 50,000 of the $750 Overlands in six months.
In six months we've absorbed all the overhead; absorbed all the development expense; realized on all the experimental cost that is usually spread over a year.
We covered our material requirements at before-the-war prices—saved three and a half million dollars on aluminum and another million on steel.
We have increased our production capacity of 300 cars per day last June to 1000 cars per day.

So again we have broken all records.
Again we have planned and bought material for a bigger production program.
And again we are setting a new and supreme standard of value—
You can now buy the big, roomy, comfortable, thirty-five horsepower Overland for $695.
Here is the value which has clearly dominated the automobile market for the last six months—now made even more clearly dominant.
Here is the car with a performance record never even approached by any car of its size ever built—50,000 in every day service.

And though the price is reduced the car is improved.
It has an up-to-the-minute power plant, en bloc type, developing full thirty-five horsepower. It has abundant power and speed and an exceptionally quick get-away.
The value is pre-eminent—unapproached.
We guarantee that the price for this model will never be lower.
But this price reduction is made in the face of a rising material market—we cannot guarantee that it will not be higher.
See the Overland dealer now—anticipate your requirement if need be—but make sure of your delivery now.
